

Information about the admissions and selection process for international applicants to HAW Hamburg

HAW Hamburg admits applicants who hold a non-EU nationality and completed their higher education entrance qualification outside Germany via a specific, selective process involving the award of points for each application in accordance with the system set out below.

1. You receive a maximum of 40 points for the overall grade (or grade average) of your higher education entrance qualification.

Please submit one of the following as proof of your higher education entrance qualification:

- ✓ Your preliminary review documentation (Vorprüfungsdocumentation, VPD) from uni-assist.
- ✓ Preliminary review documentation (VPD) in relation to the Studienkolleg at which you have taken an assessment examination (Feststellungsprüfung). Please additionally submit the certificate of the Feststellungsprüfung – the Studienkolleg VPD is incomplete without it.
- ✓ Recognition of your higher education entrance qualification issued by a German authority, which needs to include a conversion of your grade to its equivalent in the German system.

Please submit a copy of your school-leaving certificate/certificate of higher education entrance qualification in the original language, plus a translation into German or English.

You can be awarded additional points which may increase your chance of being accepted for a place on a degree course at HAW Hamburg. These additional points relate to the following factors:

2. Up to 10 points for completed vocational training or practical experience relevant to your chosen degree course

Have you done vocational training or relevant internships, or have you already worked in a field related to the course you plan to study? If so, please submit the following as appropriate:

- ✓ Certificate of vocational qualification
- ✓ Confirmation of completed internships or practical placements
- ✓ Written references from employers (we can't enter into contact with referees, so their name/address is not enough – please ask them to give you a brief written reference)

3. Up to 10 points for demonstrable advanced proficiency in German

To be accepted for a place at HAW Hamburg, you need to prove that your German proficiency is equivalent to level C1 in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (with the exception of English-language degree courses). We accept the following certificates or proofs of proficiency:

- TestDaF (at least 4x4 points)
- DSH 2 or DSH 3
- C1 certificate issued by the Goethe-Institut
- TELC C1 Hochschule exam
- Zentrale Oberstufenprüfung administered by the Goethe-Institut
- Kleines or Großes Deutsches Sprachdiplom issued by the Goethe-Institut

- Deutsches Sprachdiplom issued by the Kultusministerkonferenz (level II)
- Österreichisches Sprachdiplom (Austrian German Language Diploma) (ÖSD C2)
- completed degree in German studies from a higher education institution outside Germany
- completed pre-course studies (Propädeutikum), with a grade of 4 or better in the subject of German

You can be awarded additional points if you can demonstrate that your proficiency is above this level, via one of the following certificates or documents:

- TestDaF (16 points or more)
- DSH 3
- C2 certificate issued by the Goethe-Institut
- TELC C1 Hochschule (gut or sehr gut)
- Proof of having spent at least 3 years in a German-speaking country
- A grade of 2.5 or higher in the subject of German in a Studienkolleg examination (Feststellungsprüfung).
- Completed degree in German studies from a higher education institution outside Germany, including a demonstrable period of one year spent teaching German or doing other work in a German-speaking environment ('year abroad').

We are not able to accept applications where you have only registered for your German exam, but not yet taken it. For your application to be accepted, you must submit your language proficiency certificate to the Student Admissions and Registration Office (Studierendensekretariat) by the deadline for completed applications.
